HARMONY STARTS CHAUTAUQUA WELL

GOOD CROWDS ARE REPORTED AT OPENING PROGRAMS

EXPERTS GIVE LECTURES

Some Slight Changes Made; Babies Getting Attention; Cattle Judging Exhibit Tomorrow

The Harmony community farm chautauqua started off yesterday with good crowds. Three hundred attended the morning programs, while between 600 and 700 were at the afternoon and evening programs. Complete satisfaction is reported with the programs as given.

The morning demonstrations are of particular interest. Dr. P. G. Holden and the other agricultural experts are holding the attention of the men with their soil and crop demonstrations, including actual work in the fields. Prof. G. H. Stiensmeyer of the State Teachers College gave a talk on poultry yesterday morning, which was enjoyed. Miss Hettie Anthony, also of the State Teachers Colloge, talked on "Malnutrition of Children." This series will continue through the whole chautauqua.

The babies are having especial attention. Mrs. Mary T. Watts of Iowa, founder of the Better Baby movement in the United States, is conducting a series of baby studies, including feeding, care and scoring. She spoke yesterday afternoon in the time scheduled for Prof. Sam Jordan.

Mrs. Watts is being assisted in her work this week by Miss Elizabeth Moore of St. Louis, of the Modern Crusade movement, who pays special attention to the school children, and by Dr. Florence Sherbon of Topeka, Kan., a specialist in children's work, formerly connected with the governmental children's bureau in Washington, D. C. Doctor Sherbon will be here the last two days. She is now with the Kansas state board of health.

Saturday afternoon there will be a baby contest.

The children of the community are arranging to give a vitalized agriculture pageant at the program Saturday night.

The afternoon lecture tomorrow will be by Prof. Sam Jordan of the state board of agriculture, who will speak on "The Crimson Trail of an Idea." Tomorrow afternoon there will also be a cattle judging exhibit conducted by Frank Thompson, secretary of the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association.

Saturday afternoon the main lecture will be given by Henry Wallace, editor of Wallace's Farmer.

The night moving picture programs have been changed. "Wildflower," scheduled for last night, will be given tonight. "Freckles," scheduled for Friday night, will be given Saturday night, while "The Virginian," scheduled for Saturday, will be given Friday.

SOUTH DEPOT STREET WORK WAS COMPLETED YESTERDAY

Three Public-Spirited Citizens Donated All the Labor, Except What the City Grader Did.

Yesterday the work on South depot street form First street to the south end of the city was completed. Rol Thomas, Henry Stevenson and Henry Kelley donated all the work, with the exception of what was done by the city grader. They used slips, opened up the ditches and raised the road bed. After the grading was completed, they made it look like a boulevard with road drags. After this road was completed they started grading Newton street, the first street west of Depot street.

THIS IS ONE MORAL PLACE, DECLARES THE POLICE JUDGE

Not a Trial or a Fine in September Appears on W. L. Johnson's Monthly Report to Mayor

If the Maryville city government had to run on what W. L. Johnson, police judge, turns into the treasury month by month as a result of fines, there wouldn't be any city government. Judge Johnson's report for September, filed at the city hall yesterday in readiness for the meeting of the city commissioners next week, is full of blanks—no trial, no fines, no anything.

This is the best record in a long time, according to Judge Johnson, who is also a justice of the peace. It is in striking contrast to August, the month the county fair was held here, when eleven persons came up before the judge and yielded $76 in fines for the city treasury.

In May there were three cases; in June, one; in July, two.

OMAHA'S NO PLACE FOR BLACK MEN, SAYS ONE WHO SAW IT

Jim Malcolm Went Up Sunday to Stay a Week, But He Didn't; He Stayed Indoors

You needn't mention Omaha to James Malcolm, negro porter and shoe shining expert at the Godsey barber shop on the north side of the square. Jim went to Omaha last Sunday morning, expecting to make a week's visit with friends and relatives. He returned to Maryville Monday night.

The reason for his sudden change of intention was carried in the Monday morning papers, which reported the race riots of Sunday night, the lynching of a negro prisoner, the almost-lynching of the mayor, and the burning of the court house. Jim got to Omaha just in time to encounter the race feeling that was beginning to run high. He attributes his escape from damage to the fact that he kept indoors.

Several negroes were dragged from street cars and beaten severely in his neighborhood, but Jim wasn't out to see it happen. He says he would have returned to Maryville Sunday night if it had been at all safe to go as far as the railway station.

Jim says he doesn't intend to go back to Omaha to complete his visit. Maryville looks mighty good to him.

French Expected to Ratify.

Paris, Oct. 2. — Predictions were made in certain circles today that the French chamber of deputies may ratify the peace treaty tonight.

TOURISTS SUPPORT GOOD ROADS PLAN

CROWD ATTENDED MEETING IN COURTHOUSE LAST NIGHT.

24 CARS IN SEVENTH TRIP

They're All Different and All New; Speaker Shows Desirability and Ways of Hard-Surfacing.

Promptly on schedule, at 6 o'clock last evening, there rolled into Maryville a procession of the finest looking automobiles that have graced the local streets in many a day. From then on, until after 9 o'clock this morning, the hospitality of the town was in the possession of the Kansas City Victory tourists, numbering seventy-five, who are making their seventh annual tour of the Kansas City trade territory in the interest of good roads and, incidentally good motor cars.

The tour left Kansas City Monday morning and will end at Kansas City Saturday. The seventy-five men in the party, including a band, are riding in twenty passenger cars and four motor trucks, all of the latest models. No model older than a 1919 catalogue show was allowed to enter. Several 1920 styles are in the tour. There are no duplicates on the tour; all the cars were different.

First Tour was Thorugh Here.

The first tour of the Kansas City Motor Car Dealers Association, seven years ago, was made through this territory. Since then the annual trips have gone out in all directions from Kansas City, and now the schedule is being started all over again.

The tourists in general have been finding good roads, in spite of the recent rains. The worst stretch encountered yesterday was over the county line east of Ravenwood. From Ravenwood to Maryville the road was better. Chillicothe was the stop night before last. St. Joseph is entertaining the tourists this afternoon and tonight.

The chief purpose of the trip is to preach the gospel of good roads, particularly of hard surfaced roads. Almost a capacity crowd attended the good roads meeting that was held last night in the circuit court room in the courthouse. A band concert helped the program, which was made up of talks by E. E. Peake, secretary of the motor car dealers association, by Estill Scott, president f the good roads association of Greater Kansas City, and by J. Frank Smith, secretary of the last named association. G. L. Wilfley of Maryville presided at the meeting.

Roads Permanent Improvements.

Mr. Smith said he had three hobbies: dairying, consolidated rural schools, and hard surfaced roads. A good road is as much a permanent improvement to a farm as a fine house or having a telephone or being on a rural route, he declared. He cited cases of farmers who had been converted from opposition to support of the good roads campaign. Livingston county, he asserted, was going to make another trial and was going to put over this time a bond issue for good roads totaling 10 per cent of the valuation of the county, Nodaway county, he estimated, could vote more than twice as much money and not equal 5 per cent of the valuation here.

The speaker emphasized the importance of federal aid in road building. The government, he said, gives a bonus of $1,200 a mile and then pays half of the expense of building the road. He urged the necessity of immediate action before all the federal aid is taken up by other counties.

Everything is Higher Now.

A good hard-surfaced road now costs about $30,000 a mile to build, he said, which is a considerable increase over a few years ago, when the same work could have been done for $12,000 or $15,000. He pointed out, however, that the prices for farm products at that time were not half what they are now, and that the whole scale of living has gone up.

is spread out over a term of years, he is spread out over a tterm of years, he explained, so that it amounts to only a few cents an acre a year. The district is made wide enough so that all who are benefited by the road pay somethhing towards its construction, amount being determined by their distance from the road. The start in Noda way County could be made by hard surfacing the state roads, he believes.

The case of Harrison County was sited, where the farmers living along the Jefferson Highway have just formed a district to hard-surface twenty-two miles of the highway, ending at the Iowa line. The road district there is to be four miles wide. The completion of this work will make the Jefferson Highway a hard surfaced road across two counties east of Nodaway.

HOPKINS PREPARES FOR TWO BIG DAYS

VICTORY BARBECUE THERE TOMORROW AND SATURDAY

COOKS ALREADY ON JOB

Appetizing Menu Ready for Serving to Crowd; the Meal Will Begin Promptly at Noon

Tomorrow and Saturday are the days for the big Victory barbecue in honor of the returned soldiers at Hopkins, and many from Maryville are planning to attend. Men from the Swift Packing Company of St. Joseph reached Hopkins Wednesday noon to prepare the meat for the big barbecue to be held Friday, and a telegram received by the committee says th airplanes will surely be there, being enroute to Hopkins at that time.

This week's Hopkins Journal had the following:

It is planned to begin serving promptly at noon Friday. The committee will be assisted by the ladies of the four aid societies of the city. The barbecue will be just west of the Burlington depot. At 11 o'clock the grand parade will form at the "bank corner" headed by the band, followed by the Grand Army of the Republic, the soldiers of the war with Germany, the Boy Scouts, the school children of Hopkins and surrounding country, Red Cross members and citizens on foot and in autos. After marching around the square, the parade will end at the barbecue grounds where all will be served in the order in which they marched.

The menu will be roast beef sandwiches, sweet potatoes, pickles and coffee. Five hundred tin cups have been ordered in which to serve coffee, but this will not meet the demand, so all who can are requested to bring individual cups. Cream will be furnished, but on account of the shortage, there will be no sugar.

There will be many free attractions both Friday and Saturday, including five big acts by the Reuben Ray company. A merry-go-round and many other concessions are booked and music will be furnished by the Hopkins band, assisted by outside talent.

Hon. L. C. Gabbert of St. Joseph will deliver an address at the M. E. church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He was an overseas Y. M. C. A. worker and will given many interesting experiences. On account of court being in session, it is impossible for Hon. Wes Blagg to be with us on Saturday, so it has been decided to have no speaking at that time.

Exhibition stunts will be given twice each day by the birdmen, and in addition, the airplanes will carry passengers, which will be interesting to the onlookers as well as those making the flights.

It is impossible at this time to give a detailed program for each day, but all who come are assured of a good time as the committee is leaving nothing undone to make the event one long to be favorably remembered.

Miss Edna Oldendorth of St. Louis, a graduate nurse, has been the guest since Sunday of Miss May Rowley.

THEY EGGED REED; ARRESTS PROMISED

CROWD AT ARDMORE, OK., SHOWERS MISOURI SENATOR

WAS TO OPPOSE LEAGUE

Wires Cut as Meeting Starts, Throwing the Hall Into Darkness; Speaker Escapes Being Hit

Ardmore, Okla., Oct. 2.—The arrest of the last men who last night rotten-egged Senator Reed of Missouri when he attempted to present his opposition to President Wilson's league of nations program and ratification of the Versailles treaty was promised today by the local authorities. Senator Reed had just been introduced at convention hall. As he took the platform the electric wires were cut, throwing the hall into darkness, then the platform was showered with eggs. Several members of the local committee were struck, but Reed escaped being hit.

Ardmore, Okla., Oct. 1.—The attempt of United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri to address an Ardmore audience tonight was a complete failure, following a most propitious start earlier in the evening.

Senator Reed arrived in Ardmore accompanied by General Emmett Newton of Springfield, Mo. He went immediately to the Washington hotel and later a committee met him and escorted him to the Dornick Hills Club, where an elaborate banquet was served, with many Ardmore citizens present. The rank and file, however, which gathered at the mass meeting at the Carter county court house yesterday and passed resolutions censuring Reed and sent him a wire not to come to Ardmore, denouncing his stand on the League of Nations in resolutions as undemocratic and unpatriotic and un-American, were not in evidence at the banquet.

The Mayor Was Apologetic.

The speaking had been set for 8:30 o'clock and at that time the Ardmore Convention Hall, with a seating capacity of five thousand, was filled to overflowing, with fully six thousand people jammed into the building. Many Ardmore women were present. At 8:30 o'clock Fred Williams, of the reception committee, introduced Mayor William Freeman of Ardmore, after having first read a telegram from Jake L. Hamon, who had been selected to preside at the meeting, but had wired from Ranger, Texas, that it would be impossible for him to be present.

Mayor Freeman started to introduce the Missouri senator by stating his position, and was approaching a place wherein he was making clear his position, saying he was discharging his duty on behalf of the city, whose chief executive he was, no matter how diametrically his views and Senator Reed's might be on the League of Nations. But before the period was reached came the anti-climax.

A Shower of Eggs.

Without warning, out went the lights as someone, whom no one knows, had cut the light wires. Immediately pandemonium broke loose.

Some cool-headed citizens reached the middle of the stage whereon were seated Senator Reed, Mayor Freeman and members of the reception committee. He urged the crowd to remain quiet. At this juncture eggs began breaking all about the stage. One shot was fired in the course of the trouble that followed. Soon afterward a lineman succeeded in repairing the broken light wires and it was revealed that eggs had struck those upon the stage. When a semblance of order had been restored there was an unsuccessful attempt to have Senator Reed deliver his address, but the audience refused to remain quiet. Every attempt to have the senator proceed was greeted with hisses and catcalls, and there were rounds of cheers for President Wilson.

Women to the Rescue.

Hope of order at last being abandoned, and in an effort to forestall further scenes, a committee of women went upon the stage and held an informal reception.

After the crowd had thinned somewhat the senator and those who were with him upon the stage left and were driven to the hotel.

Mr. Reed expected to leave Ardmore late tonight for the west. Many Ardmore citizens expressed themselves as deeply humiliated over the affair.

FEDERAL TROOPS CALLED OUT TO END ARKANSAS RACE RIOTS

Three Whites and Several Negroes Reported Killed and Scores Injured In Trouble at Elaine

Helena, Ark., Oct. 2.—Federal troops and special deputies patroled Elaine, near here, pending the arrival today of five hundred troops from Camp Pike, ordered out to quell the race riots, starting Thursday night, in which three whites and several negroes were reported killed and scores injured.

Tappen, of Helena, and seven negroes are known to be dead at Elaine as a result of clashes between negroes and posses searching for the persons who last night from ambush fired upon and killed W. D. 102 GETS BANKFULL AND THEN STOPS RISING; PUMPS WORKING

Damage at City Water Station Hard to Estimate; Progress on the Improvements Still Continues

The One Hundred and Two river, which threatened to go on a rampage yesterday as a result of the heavy rains in Iowa, reached bankfull last night, slopped over a little, and then began to recede this morning. It had fallen about eight inches at noon, and most of the danger of an overflow, except in the lower places, was at an end.

Just what the damage has been to the dam and the intake pipes at the city water station is hard to estimate. They are still under water—far under—and it will be a wonder if the rush of water has not worked some mischief. One of the intake pipes from the river, the one that rests on the dam, is not being used. Some of the pumping is being done from the sand-points. While this is insufficient to supply the city, it helps. The pumps are working all right.

The rise in the river inconvenienced somewhat the work that is being done at the station by the Randall Construction Company. A slight overflow has made difficult the access to the new reservoir which is being excavated north of the old ones. A rise of a few feet more would have stopped the work entirely.

The Randall construction company, which has finally managed to get plenty of sand and rock, now faces a shortage of cars to bring the cement ordered for the work. Besides excavating the new reservoir, the Randall company is putting a new lining in the small reservoir nearest the power plant and is installing a filter plant in it.

The new reservoir will cover about eight acres. Thirty-five or forty men are now at work, and the company is advertising today for more. Maryville men are being employed as far as possible. The Randall company also is doing the paving at Burlington Junction and has about thirty men at work there.

4TH INNING AGAIN WHIPS WHITE SOX

CINCINNATI TAKES THE SECOND GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES

LOSERS OUTHIT WINNERS

Good Weather Reported; Victors Make More Errors Than the Vanquished Team, too

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 2.—The fourth inning again today, as yesterday, proved the undoing as the Chicago White Sox in their world's championship series of baseball games with the Cincinnati Reds. Three runs scored by Cincinnati in that inning turned the tide of the pitchers' battle between Williams and Sallee.

The weather this morning was as fine as yesterday and promised to be excellent for the second clash of the two teams.

The final score was 4 to 2. Chicago outhit Cincinnati, but was unable to hit at the right time.

The score by inings:

	R	H	E
Chicago 000 000 200	2	10	1
Cincinnati 000 301 00x	4	4	2

PETIT JURY IS TURNED LOOSE UNTIL NEXT MONDAY MORNING

Court on a Vacation; Judge and Lawyers Go to Kansas City; Disagreement on Dredge Case

The circuit court was not adjourned this morning, although the petit jury was excused from yesterday evening until Monday morning. The court was merely left unadjourned, so that pleas of guilty and the like could be entered. No trials ar escheduled until Monday.

Several members of the Nodaway county bar took advantage of the vacation to go to Kansas City today to attend the sessions of the state bar association, which is to meet there. They will back the candidacy of Judge Woodson Peery of Albany for the supreme bench of Missouri.

After three hours of deliberation yesterday afternoon, the jury trying the case of the state vs. Walker Dredge of near Elmo for petit larceny, failed to agree, and the case goes over. The jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal, it is reported.

Judge John M. Dawson left this afternoon for Kansas City to attend the meeting of the state bar association, and also a meeting of circuit judges of the state. He will also boost J. Woodson Peery of Albany for the supreme court bench.

The case of L. E. Parker on a statutory charge was continued by agreement.

War Record of Missourians.

Missouri not only led the nation it several phases of war time agriculture, but our soldiers did no less nobly on the battlefield under the most hazardous circumstances. The Congressional Medal of Honor (which is the highest war cross of the United States) was awarded only to seventy eight of the 1,299,000 men engaging in actual combat, and is awarded for distinguished service of the highest type. Nineteen made the supreme sacrifice before their medals were awarded. Of the 78 Congressional Medals, Missouri soldiers won six, standing only third to New York with nine and Illinois with seven. Missouri, among the states of the Union, is seventh in population. Thirty-nine of these medals went to National Guard divisions, twenty-three to selective draft divisions, thirteen to regular army and marine units, two to the tank corps and one to the air service.

Here's the Meanest Father.

Kansas City, Oct. 2.—William T. Julian, a track laborer for the street railways company, admitted in North Side court here today that he stole a coaster wagon from his own five year old son and sold it to another boy for $2. The son, who was one of the witnesses against his father, offered a bit of testimony in answering a question by Justice Sheppard. "Did your father steal your coaster?" queried the justice. The son, with a sidelong glance at his parent, peeped: "Yesthir, he sure tooked it." Julian was assessed a fine of $100.

Women Backing the Soldier Boys.

When the history of the war has been written, the work done by the women at home will impress itself upon this nation as few even now realize. Literally millions of women left their homes and took up war activities into which women had never before been called, and many more at home devoted long hours at work in knitting and preparing surgical dressings for the boys "over there." Some may have worked at the expense of health and are now suffering from headaches, backache, dragging-down pains or some derangement. It should be remembered that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for more than forty years has been restoring such women to health and strength and is now recognized as a standard remedy. Adv.

State Probate Judges to Meet.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 2.—Plans are being completed for the fifth annual convention of the probate judges of the state of Missouri, which is to be held here Oct. 6 and 7. About 100 probate judges are expected to attend. Interest in the convention, to a large extent, centers in the election of new officers. The present officers are A. B. Duncan, president; C. A. It will include automobile tours over the city and surrounding country.

Will Be Los Angeles of England.

London, Oct., 2. —Torquay, the beautiful Wales watering place just off the Bristol Channel, promised to become the British equivalent to Los Angeles as a center for motion pictures studios. Many scenes already have been filmed in the Torquay region.

British movie producers are alive to the necessity of improving their goods if they are not to be further outclassed by American rivals.

Harvard Medical School Swamped.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct., 2. —The greatest number of applications ever made for admission to the Harvard medical school, three times more than the school can accommodate, have been received. Of the 400 applicants 280 must be refused, and even with thi culling there is an increase of thirt, students over the previous limit o ninety for first year students. Harvard officials explain the great increase by the work of Harvard medical men in the war, which they say has brought the school to a positio of pre-eminence among the colleges o medicine and surgery in this country

Drouth Makes Bryan Happy.

Medford, Mass., Oct., 2.—"O tempora, O mores," was the comment o William Jennings Bryan when on a visit here he was shown a buildin where some of the famous old Medfor rum used to be manufactured. Mr Bryan came here to make a temperance address. "After January 16, 1920 a man will have to drink twenty-fiv gallons of water to obtain the necessary alcohol to cause intoxication," Mr Bryan said.

Water in Ear Causes Death.

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 2. —Water which entered his right ear while he was swimming in the pool at the Y M. C. A. here brought death to Carl Fleck, thirteen. The water caused an abscess to form and this in turn developed into brain fever.

Farragut's Old Ship Doomed.

Boston, Oct. 2.—The famous old wooden warship, Richmond, one of Admiral Farragut's fleet of "Damn the Torpedos" fame, is to be towed here from Philadelphia. Here the wooden warrior will be burned to recover the metal used in its construction. The sloop of war served its country through three bitter wars.

Returned Soldier Has a Grouch, and a Legion Paper Explains It

Washington, Oct. 2. —Making political capital out of the reported discontent of the soldier and the discouragements he met overseas and on this side as well in the service has been a favorite pastime in many sections of the country since the armistice. Throwing some light on the subject and as an explanation of just how the discontent of the soldier came about, an editorial printed in the latest issue of the organ of the District of Columbia Department of the American Legion, "The Veteran," is interesting, because it shows that there was no fundamental wrong at the bottom of this "soldier discontent" so popularly referred to by the agitators.

The editorial from the September "Veteran" reads:

"The whole country has taken note of the fact that nine service men out of ten who come back from overseas are nursing a grouch. Many thoughtful people, enthusiastic over the great thing that has been accomplished, have scratched their heads in bewilderment because the men who turned the trick are without rejoicing; are, on the contrary, well supplied with larged sized hammers with which to attack anything from Pershing to pork and beans. The condition is a fact and might as well be faced.

"But the cause of it is by no means serious. The Veteran is optimistic in the belief that it will fade away when exposed to the sun of time and that not a vestige of it will remain one year hence.

"Here is the reason why the service man is sore. He went blithely away with a great enthusiasm for the cause. Instead of being a thrilling adventure, as he had expected, he found that going to war was one continuous grind of hard work. Instead of finding himself in a position where personal thrill and glory filled up his entire horizon, he found that he was but an obscure cog in a stupendous machine and that he played a very monotonous part,

"Even this he bore with a fortitude as long as the great thing to be accomplished was a head. The job was worth any amount of drudgery. But when, on November 11 of last year, Germany caved in, his incentive for enduring his burdens was gone. He regarding his mission as being performed. He began to think, not of bending every effort upon a supreme effort ahead, but of getting back home—back to his family, back to his job, back to the career he had left.

"But he found that he could not get away. There were reasons why the military strength must be maintained. Germany had not yet signed the treaty. Activity might be resumed. The existence of force was necessary although there was little chance that it would be used. So the men in the service must stick around. They must continue the monotony and drudgery of their lives, must be held away from those Elysian shores back of the statue of Liberty. The tedium of it, the fret of it, the seeming uselessness of it, got on the nerve of every men. Month of waiting soured most of those dashing Yanks. They became quarrelsome, sore, blue, disgusted, faultfinding. They came hom with a grouch. It was but natural. Nobody who understands them blame them for it.

"But nobody who understands th processes of the human mind worries about this attitude. It is a saving quality of the memory that experiences that are pleasant, to remain and that those that have been disagreeable gradually fade away. So it is safe to say that, a year hence, every mother's son of them will be as happy as crickets and that half a century to come will be filled with recitals of experiences in which there is naught but gratification."

Gives Blood to Save Stranger.

Sunbury, Pa., Oct. 2.—Without knowing the man whose life he saved, Joseph Murphy, a star athlete and baseball palyer of this city, gave up a quart of his blood for John Maley, who is known to horsemen throughout the Eastern states. Mailey's wife had given up some of her blood in an effort to save her husband's life, but the amount was not enough and the doctors asked for more. In a conversation with friends Murphy learned of Mailey's need. I'll give mine," he said, and immediately proceeded to make good his promise. Mailey is expected to recover.

Star Gets Him Into Trouble.

Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 2.—A bright and shining star brought John Savage to grief. John and nineteen others were employed to maintain peace and dignity of the Knox county fair at all hazards. As an emblem of his authority John displayed upon his lapel a star. So noticeable was the star that arrest was speedy. Mayor McDowell said $5 and costs would square the matter. The charge was impersonating an officer. John admitted that the star, a large one, was cut from a tomato can.

Short Courses Are Practical.

First prize in cattle judging at the state fair was won four years ago by Ray Howell, a Monroe county young man. He had finished the Short Course in Agriculture at the University of Missouri in 1915, and entered the contest in competition with students in the four-year course. Prior to that time he had been much interested in Percheron horses. Ray and his father bought a Percheron stud from the University of Missouri and started one of the best studs in the state. Here is a partial list of their winnigs at the Missouri State Fair this year: Aged stallion, 2nd; stallion under one year, 1st; junior champion and reserve j unior champion stallion; aged mares, 1st and 2nd; mare under one year, 1st and 2nd; Senior champion, junior champion, and grand champion mare. They won the get of sire, first onproduce of dam, and they had the best stud, including stallion and three mares. There has been a very decided improvement in their stud during the past three or four years. The Short Courses in Agriculture and Home Economics begin this year October 27 at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. Catalogue and full particulars free on request.

Fattening Lambs on Forage.

Three hundred thirty-seven feeder lambs averageing 69 pounds were turned into a cornfield on the J. S. Sillers farm in Atchison county September 13 to graze the corn and soybeans. The beans have made a splendid growth and should afford a large amount of good feed for the flock. This method of feeding, based on the experience of a large number of successful farmers, is advocated by the Extension Service of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. Most farmers make preparation for the feeders as Mr. Sillers did.I but others having fields with a heavy growth of grass turn sheep in to clean up the fields. The plan has its advantages, which are set forth in Extension Circular 56.

Bone From Sheep Saves Leg.

Carrollton, Mo., Oct. 2.—With the grafting of the bone of a sheep on the shinbone of Sam Williams, a farmer of Miami Station, near here, the necessity of amputating the leg was removed, and Williams will be as well as ever, doctors say. Following a fracture of the shinbone necrosion set in and amputation seemed necessary. At a local hospital four inches of bone was removed and two pieces of bone taken from a sheep's leg grafted on. The graft is proving successful and the leg will be saved.

Save by Co-operative Buying.

Pettis County farmers will save $3 to $5 a ton on 16 per cent acid phosphate by buying through the Farm Bureau. Orders for more than three carloads have been placed at $24 a ton f. o. b. Sedalia. A retired farmer will handle the goods at one dollar a ton, thus effecting the saving.

Rosen Rye Yields Well.

Rosen rye on the Charles Candill farm, Adair county, made about 13 bushels to the acre, which is nearly twice the yield of ordinary rye in the country this year, reports teh county agene to the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. All rye was badly damaged by wet weather. Good reports are received from this rye wherever plantings have been made in the state.

Will Hold Barkeeper Responsible.

Boston, Oct. 2.—Boston saloonkeepers "should worry" if their bartenders surreptitiously sell some real red licker to patrons who tire of the 2.75 per cent brew, United States Commissioner William A. Hayes has ruled that, if such sales are consummated while the proprietor is not around only the knights of the white apron can be held accountable.

He Could Stand a Lot.

Akron, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Stephen Bishop could stand his wife being infatuated with the star boarder, whose name he doesn't know, but when his wife taught his three children to call the boarder "papa" and ignore the presence and authority of their own father Stephen says he had more than he could bear. He asks for a divorce on that ground.

He Did It On Jamaica Ginger.

COST FOR WHEAT FIGURED AT $2.05

ESTIMATE BASED ON A YIELD OF THIRTEEN BUSHELS

$8.23 ALLOWED FOR RENT

Farm Management Department Computes Statistics for the State Board of Agriculture

Jefferson City, Oct. 2.—Seldom if ever have so many conflicting figures and estimates been made as on the cost of producing and marketing a bushel of wheat as in the year 1919. There are at least forty-eight average estimates for the different states, and many estimates have been made for each state. Sundry estimates have been made without taking into calculation each and every element of production cost. Ever so many figures have been announced in Missouri without making allowance to the farmer for the rental value of his land, also leaving out the average loss from abandoned acreage.

Secretary Jewell Mayes of the Missouri state board of agriculture, after having examined many different estimates, has applied to the farm management department of the Missouri College of Agriculture and the experiment station for an official Missouri detail of the average cost of producing an acre of wheat in Missouri in 1919, showing the cost per bushel on a basis of an average of 13 bushels per acre.

Prof. R. M. Green of the Missouri farm management department has made a detailed estimate of the average cost, allowing $8.43 per acre as land rent, and making allowance to the farmer for horse power and man power, manure and fertilizer, wear and tear on equipment, abandoned acreage and all other normal costs, including hauling to market.

The 1919 cost per acre (the total of all items) is $25.27, of which $8.23 is allowed the farmer as his acre rent on a basis of one-third of the crop. The cost per bushel, without allowing for rent, is $1.29 per bushel. Allowing one-third for rent, the bushel cost is found to be $1.94. Adding 11 cents for hauling to the local railroad station market makes a total cost of a bushel of wheat at the railroad $2.05. The complete items are as follows:

Land cost (or rent, based on 1-3 of the crop for rent)	$ 8.43
Seed: 1 bu. and 1 peck at $2.05	$2.56
Plowing: 3.18 man hours at 25c; 10.71 horse hours at 15c; equipment cost	2.61
Discing, harrowing, dragging, etc.: 1.77 man hrs. at 25c; 6.46 horse hrs. at 15c; equipment cost	1.45
Drilling: 1 man hour at 25 cents; 3.34 horse hours at 15c; equipment cost	.56
Average manure and fertilizing cost	1.00
Cost of putting in crop, fall of 1918	8.18
Twine: 2 lbs. at 26c	$ .52
Cutting: 1.19 man hrs at 50c; 3.62 horse hrs. at 15c; equipment cost	1.48
Shocking: 1.7 man hrs. at 50c	.85
Threshing: 3.16 man hrs. at 50c; 4.13 hors chrs. at 15c; equipment cost	2.44
Threshing: (machine without crew), 13 bus. at 10c	1.30
Coal sacks and miscellaneous costs	1.00
Loss from abandoned acreage (est.)	1.07
Cost of harvesting	8.66
Cost per acre at farm	$25.27
Cost per bu. (average 1919 yield, 13 bu.)	1.94

Hermit Gets Annual Shave.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 2.—John May, aged hermit who lives in a dilapidated shack in the river bottoms here, has been given his annual haircut, shave and bath. The police did the tonsorial act and also administered the scrubbing. It took several of the cops to do it, for John is a strong man and put up a determined struggle throughout the performance. He went to the police station with grizzly hair and beard which reached almost to his waist. He came away with a smooth face and head and smelling like high-priced toilet water. John makes his living by mending tinware and his customers didn't recognize him when he came around the next day. "It's not my fault, lady," said John as one of the women failed to recognize him. "Them loafing cops are what did it." John got his first haircut, shave and bath in twenty years last year when the cops ran him in and trimmed him up.

BRAND NEW FORD IS STOLEN FROM W. I. GRAY, RAVENWOOD

Robbers Moved Old Car Out of the Way to Get it and Then Put the Old Car Back In Its Place

The new Ford car of W. I. Gray of Ravenwood was stolen from the garage on the Gray property sometime during the night last night, and there are no clues as to the robber or robbers. There were two cars in the garage at the time, the stolen car being placed behind an old car, which was taken out and put back in the garage. The car stolen was purchased by Mr. Gray two weeks ago in Maryville and had only been driven a short distance. Mr. Gray has offered $100 reward for the recovery of the car. The lock on the garage door was broken in two places before the robbers gained entrance.

Moyar Hylan's committee of welcome met the liner in the bay to extend greetings and felicitations.

BRITISH THINK THEY SEE A SETTLEMENT OF THEIR STRIKE

Longshoremen Are Assured of No Reduction Before March and Will Return to Work

London, Oct. 2.—That a settlement of the national railway strike is in sight was understood from an official statement given out at Lloyd George's residence today that the long shoreman on strike at the important railway centers have telegraphed the premier the men will return to work if assured there will be no reduction before March. The premier gave such assurance, it was announced.

NO COMPROMISE, SAYS GARY, TESTIFYING TO COMMITTEE

Believes Steel Leaders Represent Minority of Workers: The Strike Continues at Standstill

Washington, Oct. 2—"No compromise, no arbitration," Judge Gary declared before the senate committee on investigation of the strike today. Judge Gary stated he must refuse to meet or confer with the American Federation of Labor leaders in any phase of the strike or any proposal of its settlement, "because they represent the minority of the steel workers."

Pittsburg, Oct. 2.—The steel strike will be pursued with the eyes of the prinicipals centered on Washington, where the senate investigating comittee continues to hold the spotlight. No big gains were made by the companies, but on the other hand the strikers have hardly made any, not enough at least to affect the outcome of the struggle either way.

In the first seven months of 1919 they have drawn $2,500 per capita royalty, or $5,575,000.

BETTER NOT SET YOUR CLOCK BACK FOR A FEW DAYS YET

Official Change of Time Will Come at Midnight October 26; Old System To Be Permanent.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—Your watch or clock will be turned back this year at midnight on October 26.

The daylight saving repeal law recently passed by congress provides that the daylight saving law shall end at midnight on the last Sunday in October.

Ther has been a considerable difference of opinion in Maryville as to when the repeal of the daylight saving law takes effect. A good many persons were ready to set their clocks backback yesterday, while others intended to wait until November 1. As a matter of fact neither date is correct.

When the clocks are set back this time, they will stay set, except in a few cities that have voted to retain the new time for their factory workers. The railroads will work on the old time.

A good many Nodaway County farming communities will be unaffected by the repeal of the law, as the new time has never been accepted by them in so far as local affairs are concerned.

PIG CLUB MEMBERS PROFIT.

Seventeen Clark County pig-club members showed 25 pigs at the county fair September 1. Fourteen of the pigs were purebred sows, and eleven were market pigs. The cost of gains as reported by the children, varied from ten cents to twenty-one cents a pound. The best average gain was 1¾ pounds a day. In the sale of the pigs the top price was paid for a purebred Duroc, $160. A Poland China ranked two of the market pigs brought $28 each. A lad too young to take up pig-club work fed a boar pig and won second place in a class of five pigs at the fair. In the open class for purebred Duroc-Jersey gilts under six months, pig-club members won first and second over all breeders. The pig club work, directed through the county agent by the Extension Service of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture, is doing much to establish purbred animals on Missouri farms. All of the stock sold by these children will be used in Clark County.

Careful Handling of Hens Is Necessary This Time of Year

MENU HINTS FOR HENS.

Use home-grown grains and their by-products supplemented with meat and fish scraps or milk. Mix these feeds to make a properly balanced ration.

Feed a scratch mixture of whole or cracked corn twice daily. Feed a mash, either dry or wet, made of ground grains and meat scrap

Make the hens exercise for their feed.

Provide a light feed of corn in the morning, supplying only what the hens will clean up in a half hour. Give a full feed in the afternoon, especially in cold weather.

Mrs. Hen, veteran, and Miss Pullet, "rookie," of the laying flock, will produce plenty of eggs during the fall and winter months, if they are properly fed and carefully managed.

Investigations of the United States Department of Agriculture show that general purpose pullets will consume in a year an average of 6.7 pounds of feed to one dozen eggs produced, while yearlings will eat about 9.6 pounds of feed. In these experiments the Leghorn pullets ate 4.8 pounds and the yearlings 5.5 pounds of feed for the production of one dozen eggs. The general purpose pullets ate 1.9 pounds more feed in producing one dozen eggs than the Leghorn pullets, and the difference increased very rapidly with the age of the stock, the general-purpose yearlings consuming 4.1 pounds more feed to a dozen eggs than the Leghorn yearlings; therefore, the Leghorns produced eggs more cheaply than the general- purpose breeds. This is in accordance with the generally accepted standards which value the general-purpose breeds most highly for market and for the hatching and breeding purposes of the general farmer and backyard poultry raiser, while the Leghorns are especially adapted for use on commercial egg farms.

Profitable egg production is largely the result of properly balanced rations of wholesome feeds. A balanced ration is a combination of feeds furnishing just the necessary amount of nutriments to produce the highest and most economical egg yields and maintain the body requirements at the same time. A good egg-laying ration should include a scratch mixture and a mash composed of palatable feeds containing some mineral protein and considerable bulk. Corn and wheat are the two best grains for poultry feeding, although wheat can be fed alone better than corn, which is inclined to be fattening. Oats and barley, on account of their higher fiber content, are not as good as corn and wheat, while rye is not well relished by fowls and is seldom fed. Moldy grains should never be fed poultry, although wheat screenings or slightly damaged grain sometimes may be used to advantage.

Menu Makeups for Biddy.

A good mash consists of 16 pounds of corn meal, 6½ pounds of meat scrap, 1 pound of bran, and 1 pound of middlings, which should be fed supplementary to the scratch mixture of 1 pound each of cracked corn, wheat, and oats. Another good mash consists of 2 pounds of corn meal or barley meal, 1 pound of middlings, 1 pound of meat or fish scrap, which should be fed in combination with a scratch mixture of 2 pounds of cracked corn, 1 pound of oats, or 1 pound of wheat or barley. A third valuable mash consists of 3 pounds of corn meal, 1 pound of meat scrap, which should be fed in combination with the scratch mixture of 2 pounds of cracked corn and 1 pound of oats. Still another practical mash mixture consists of 9 pounds of corn meal, 5 pounds of middlings, 4 pounds of bran, 2 pounds of cottonseed or gluten meal, 2 pounds of meat scrap, 2 per cent bone meal, fed in connection with a scratch combination of 2 pounds of cracked corn, 1 pound of wheat, 1 pound of oats, and 1 pound of barley.

The scratch mixture should be fed twice daily, preferably in litter from 3 to 5 inches deep on the floor of the henhouse, feeding about one-third the mixture in the morning and two-thirds in the afternoon. The mash may be fed dry or wet, although the dry mash is more common, it being kept constantly before the fowls in the hopper. If hens show a tendency to become too fat, make them work for their feed by feeding the scratch grain in a deep litter, by feeding less scratch grain, and by reducing the quantity of meat scrap in the mash.

The feeder must exercise his own judgment in deciding how much grain to supply, as the amount should vary with the different fowls and at different seaosns of the year.

Generally a good standard is to feed about one quart of scratch grains and an equal weight of mash (1½ quarts daily) to 13 hens of the general-purpose breeds, such as the Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, or Wyandottes, or to 16 hens of the smaller or egg breeds. This would be about 7½ pounds each of scratch grains and of mash daily to 100 Leghorns. If hens have free range or large yards containing green feed a general-purpose hen will eat about 75 pounds of feed in a year and a Leghorn will eat about 55 pounds, in addition to the green stuff consumed

Hens Need Plenty of Protein.

Meat scrap or some animal feed high in protein is one of the important constituents of the mash. In the Government experiments a pen of pullets on free range, which received no meat scrap or animal protein feed, laid only 90 eggs each in a year, compared with yields of from 125 to 150 eggs each from fowls fed rations containing meat scrap. The eggs from the pen where no meat scrap was fed cost 22 cents more a dozen to feed than when the meat scrap was used in the ration. Fish meal or fish scrap can be used to replace the meat scrap and compares favorably with the good grade of meat scrap containing the same per cent of protein. Skim milk or buttermilk, either sweet or sour, is excellent for replacing part or all of the meat scrap. The milk may be used in mixing the mash if a moist mash is fed, or it can be kept before the fowls as a drink. If clabbered and fed thick like cheese, hens will eat enough of it to replace all the meat scrap needed. A little bone meal makes an excellent addition to the mash or it can be used to replace part of the meat scrap. Green cut bone, if fresh and sweet, will also take the place of one-third if fed daily at the rate of one-third to one-half ounce to the hen.

His Conscientious Dog Causes Trouble.

Sisson, Cal., Oct. 2.—That even a watchdog may be too conscientious in his work is the advice of Forest Ranger, Ross McCloud and Game Wordedn J. S. White, who were stopping for a few minutes at the home of W. J. Moffett in the mountain district and were attracted by the visit of Moffett's dog to the brush every few minutes. They investigated, found deer which had been killed out of season and took Moffett before court, where a $25 fine was inflicted. Moffett now has doubts as to the value of the dog.

And She Got Her a Count.

New York, Oct. 2.—"You know the counts are all broke now. I have the money, so why shouldn't I bring one home with me," said Mrs. Marie D. Bustanoby to a member of friends when she sailed for Europe two months ago. Mrs. Bustanoby will arrive back shortly betrothed to Count Rossolo di Riccolo, a member of a well-known Italian family. It is not known whether she is accompanied by her future husband or not.

Freight Cars Tumble in City.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 2.—Six huge freight cars tumbled over the Chicago and Alton viaduct here at Capitol avenue and Third street, a half block from the State House. They were being drawn in a long freight train when the broken brake beams suddenly gave way and caused them to crash through guard rails on the viaduct to the street below, narrowly missing a street car, automobile and pedestrians who were passing at the time. Considerable damage was done to nearby property, but no one was injured. It took wreckers an entire day to clear the debris.

Read this statement Mrs. Hattie Hogue, 121 Hester St., Maryville, says: "For several years I had trouble with my back and kidneys. A dull ache settled across my back and when I tried to bend or lift, I got a sharp catch in my back. My kidneys acted irregularly and caused me a lot of annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills gave very fine benefit at once and continued use brought lasting results. It has been some time now since I have needed such amedicine."

This Was a Queen Fish.

Osceola, Ia., Oct. 2.—Some very beculiar fish have been caught in a pool on the Conley farm, near here, and one of them is now on display in a jar in a window here. Despite the fact that hundreds have examined the fish, no one can identify it. It is four inches long, and in color and shape resembles a catfish. It has gills, and fins on the top of its tail. It also had horns on its head, and four legs similar to a frog.

The Coffee Pot Exploded.

Bedford, Ind., Oct. 2.—John Casaway nearly lost the sight of both eyes when a coffee pot blew up. Gasaway and Henry Clendening were operating a fishing and mussel shell camp and Gasaway was preparing a meal over the gasoline stove. Just as he stooped to lift the coffee pot it exploded, scalding his face and burning his eyes with the hot fluid and grounds. It was believed the strainer of the pot became stopped up.

Cops Are a Great Help.

Steubensiville, O., Oct. 2.—With arrests showing a reduction from 400 to 60 a month because of prohibition, the question of what to do with the policemen is the burning question here. Citizens understanding the situation have sought out the idle cops for different odd jobs. Desk records at the police station show that there were eleven calls from women who wanted their auto mobiles cranked, one from a business man who wanted three mice killed, three calls from women who wanted dead rats buried, one call to exterminate a swarm of bugs about an are light, and four calls from women shoppers who mislaid their parasols.

May Soon Have Male Milliners.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Men of Cincinnati and environs are to be given a chance to retaliate for the feminine invasion of their fields of endeavor. A millinery class has been started by Mrs. Marie Perry and men are invited to join the "classes."

No Race Suicide There.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—The case of a woman who gave birth to her twenty-first child is registered in the official records of births here during July. The child is living. Another woman gave birth to her sixteenth child the same month, and two had their fourteenth. Seventeen women had twins during the month.

His Toothache Was Valuable.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 2.—How much per month is a toothache worth? A jury will have to decide this question in a suit brought in common pleas court here by Anton Smolic against a St. Clair avenue dentist. Smolic puts it at $625 a month. He askes $5,000 damages, claiming that he visited the dentist last January and had the tooth treated. Despite the dentist's assurance to the contrary it continues to ache.

G.O.P. QUARREL SEEN IN CONGRESS

NOT A SEMBLANCE OF HARMONY IN EITHER HOUSE

MAY DEPOSE A LEADER

This is the Talk, But Lack of Anyone to Elevate May Save Representative Frank W. Mondell

Washington, Oct. 2.—Republican family quarrels in congress appear as far from being settled as ever. There is not even much of a semblance of surface harmony in either house.

It is whispered about that another caucus of the Republican members of the house of representatives is to be held shortly, the purpose of which is the deposing of Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming from his position as party floor leader. As there are many discordant elements in the majority that have shown their enmity to Mr. Mondell on the floor of the house and in caucus, it is not unlikely that a gathering of the Republican clans can be arranged under the guise of discussing party policies. The deposing of Mr. Mondell will be another matter entirely.

No One Worth Electing.

The general opinion is that there is little chance of pulling down Mondell because there is no one to elevate. True, there are plenty of aspirants, but, in the opinion of Republican national leaders, no one who could particularly improve upon the present methods. James R. Mann, party floor leader during the eight years of G. O. P. minority, but who was defeated for the speakership because of a three-pound steak and an emaciated horse, gifts from a packing firm, is out of the running. His health is none too good, and, moreover, his feeling appear t be still somewhat lacerated as a result of the loss of the speakership. Also, Mondell is Mann's lieutenant, and was elected party leader to show the country that although Mann himself could not occupy the throne, he still could successfully pull the strings of party manipulation in legislative affairs.

Congressman Fordney of Michigan, high priest of the high tariff; Fess of Ohio, perpetual party orator; Longworth of Ohio, leader of the silk stocking element and now purifier, and many others would cheerfully assume Mr. Mondell's duties, but none is reckoned a commanding enough figure by his associates to be able to upset the present monarch of the majority. In the minds of many Democrats of the house the Republicans are losing one of their most forceful partisans in J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania, who has just been nominated as the party candidate for mayor of Philadelphia by Senator Boies Penrose. Mr. Moore's election is conceded, and that means that he will resign about the first of the new year.

Party Wrangle Expected.

So the Republican caucus is forecast as another party wrangle, an attempt to speed up the majority into passing some constructive legislation such as the president and the people have demanded, and which has been ignored almost wholly to date. It is possible that the matter of deposing Leader Mondell will not even be considered, but the malcontents are talking ferociously at the present time.

Although derelict in passing important measures the Republicans are active in suppressing Democratic activities that promise praise and publicity. Representative William L. Igoe of Missouri some eight weeks ago introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the methods of the excess profiteers with a view to legislating some of their ill-gotten gains out of them. The house committee on rules, Republican controlled, of course, declines to pass it to the house, and there it remains. Presumably it is being held up because it is a Democratic proposal.

Rents High in Washington.

Mr. Igoe's belief is that the man who is forced to pay heavy excess profits simply raises his prices sufficiently to cover his taxes and still yield him a fixed abnormal income. Taking the housing situation in Washington, for example. The prices of coal, light, gas and the wages of the janitors are substantially the same as before the war, yet rents have advanced from 25 to 50 per cent, and accommodations are almost impossible to obtain, at that.

Mr. Igoe wants to know the methods by which the profiteers arrived at their figures, and, what is equally important, how much they have managed to withhold from the government in th eway of lawful taxes. The committee on rules seemingly does not care.

Now that the Philadelphia primary election has been held and Senator Penrose has succeeded in defeating his political enemies, the Vare brothers, it is possible that the Pennsylvanian will return to Washington after an absence of several months and attend to some of the important bills held in abeyance by the senate finance committee, of which he is chairman. The few revenue bills passed by ehe house are still lying in the dusty pigeon-holes of the senate finance committee, and will be until Senator Penrose himself extracts them.

Would Save the Umpires.

Cinicinnati, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Notice, Umps! An ordinance has been introduced in the Cincinnati City Council prohibiting the sale of soft drinks in bottles at the local baseball yard. It is not expected that the ordinance will be passed in time for the world series, but its author admits it is in the interest of the umps.

Bus Loses Trade By Prohibition.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—City authorities are considering discontinuance of the service between the city jail and Warrensville correctional farm. For years the old bus had been making daily trips well loaded but since the demise of John Barleycorn its passengers have been growing fewer and fewer. Recently the bus made the trip empty.

May Take Up Licenses of Speeders

Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 2.—The taking away of the automobile licenses of those found guilty of violating speed and traffic laws has been recommended to the Chamber of Commerce and it is likely that the commercial body will go on record as favoring this punishment. It is done in other parts of the state.

A market of real country "Goodies" at the Zook building next Saturday by the Lasher Community Club.

Partner of Mark Twain Dies.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 2.—Wales R. McCormick, eighty-seven, formerly partner of Mark Twain, died recently at his home here. McCormick and Mark Twain were partner "devils" together in Hannibal, Mo., when boys and were afterward lifelong personal friends.

Woman "Highwayman" Is Handy.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—"Young good looking, handy with smiles, also revolvers." This description applies to a young woman "highwayman" the police are seeking. She operates with a male companion, and the pair have a score of holdups to their credit.

Ohio Claims Brand Whitlock.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Ohio newspapers are busy claiming Brand Whitlock, new ambassador to Italy, as a native son. And they are all on the right track. Whitlock's father, the late Rev. E. D. Whitlock, was one of the most noted Methodist ministers in Ohio in the earlier days, when ministers moved often. So, Whitlock has many "home towns" in Ohio.

Has Oldest Mule In Country.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 2.—The oldest mule in the state and probably in the United States is owned by E. W. Thomas, farmer, near here. The animal is forty-two years old. The orginal owner, on his death bed, requested Thomas to "pension" the superannuated beast.

Trained Crow Stalks Others.

Chardon, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Bernie Lindley has a pet crow, and everywhere Bernie goes along goes the crow. Bernie likewise totes his shotgun, and while the crow caws plaintively Bernie pumps the shotgun at the crows attracted by the calls of his pet. Bernie gets a dollar a crow bounty and recently cashed in on thirty-seven dead crows.

Profiteering Landlords Fooled.

New York, Oct. 2.—Metropolitan cliff-dwellers and home hunters have discovered a new and very effective way to beat the profiteering landlord. Thousands of families have been summering on the scores of beaches around New York. Instead of rushing back to the city this winter, as the open-palmed landlords expected, most of these people intend to remain by the seaside, where homes can be rented for next to nothing during the cold months. All of the houses can be well heated.

Lightning Cures Paralysis.

Jacksonville, Vt., Oct. 2.—Mrs. William Paddock, of this town, recently experienced a remedy that is certain to kill or cure. The results to her were of the happiest nature. Some months ago Mrs. Paddock suffered a stroke of paralysis and had since been unable to walk. During a severe thunder storm the other day a bolt of lightning struck near where she was sitting and she jumped up and ran. Her legs have been all right ever since.

Ohio Teacher Takes Oath.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—"I solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of the State of Ohio and the laws enacted thereunder, and that I will teach, by precept and example, respect for the flag, reverence for law and order and undivided allegiance to the Government of our country, the United States."

Every teacher in Ohio subscribes to this oath before opening classes this fall.

Pen Versus Fist, and Fist Won.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—The time-honored query "Is the pen mightier than the sword?" has had an answer in a new version. "Is the pen mightier than the fist?" It came when a well-known poet remonstrated with his iceman. The iceman used his fists, and the poet exhibited two blackened eyes when he appeared in police court seeking a warrant for the iceman.

Clothes for the older men

NOT OLD; just older; there are almost no old men these days; the spirit of youth lasts in most of us well into the seventies or farther.

The spirit of youth shows itself in clothes; and the older men want to dress in smart style, as well as the young men. Of course, the very young styles are not exactly the thing for the man of fifty or more; but there are smart styles for such men; and we have them.

Hart Schaffner Marx

are just as clever in designing these as the very youthful styles. They produce for us a great variety of different types in design as well as a great variety of sizes.

There's not a man in this town, of any age or shape, that we haven't just the clothes for.

WOULD OBSERVE OCTOB'R 10 AS THRIFT DAY IN THE U. S.

Savings Division of Treasury Department Sends Out Letters to All the County Superintendents

The savings division of the United States treasury department has been sending out letters to all the county superintendents of schools over hte country, in which the secretary of the treasury requests that October 10 be observed in the schools as National Thrift Registration Day.

Secretary Glass has written a letter to the school children of America, in which he says:

"There could be no better way of observing this day than by making it a 'red letter' day for the organization of savings societies, and I hope they save and invest their money in War Savings Stamps by joining a savings society on this day.

"By investing regularly in Thrift Stamps, children may build up a fund that will help them through college, or may start the nucleus of a fund that will enable them to go into business for themselves when they are old enough to do so. School savings societies will afford boys and girls a fine opportunity of beginning the formation of thrift habits that will be of much value to them all their lives.

"Habits formed in childhood and youth usually stay through life, and if this nation is ever to be made up of a thrifty instead of a spendthrift people, the beginning will have to be made with school children. Don't let the splendid opportunity of starting a savings account, now being offered by the government in the sale of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps, pass without taking advantage of it."

Belgian Sovereigns to St. Louis.

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—The visit of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium to St. Louis, will not be made on Oct. 25, as scheduled, it was stated in a telegram from the state department to Mayor Kiel. Instead, another day, probably Oct. 21, will be set for the Royal visit. The change was made necessary because of a rearrangement of the royal tour of the United States, owing to President Wilson's illness, as the King and Queen will visit Washington after the rest of America instead of before their western trip, as originally planned.

A Word For Wes Blagg.

Here's hoping the weather will be nice and that all who attend the Victory barbecue in Hopkins the last two days of this week will have a good time and that nothing will be left undone to make it a pleasant as well as a profitable gathering for the returned soldiers, in whose honor the event is being held. And last, but not least, all are hoping that Wes Blagg, the silver tongued orator of Maryville, can come Saturday to make an address. Hopkins people like to listen to him. Mr. Blagg always talks in a way to leave only impressions for good, and on occasions of this kind his remarks make people more patriotic and true to the government, under whose flag we enjoy the greatest liberties and blessings of any people of the world. He is one hundred per cent American, and again, here's hoping Mr. Blagg can be with us next Saturday.—Hopkins Journal.
